

Photo Feature

Wolf Pack Warrior 5
Sept. 7, 2001

Thirty-one student officers of the Republic of Korea Air Force Air University visited Kunsan Air Base Wednesday to gain an understanding of the 8th Fighter Wing mission. The ROKAF Air University in Daejeon is responsible for educating officers who will be appointed to the commanding squadrons and groups in ROKAF units. They are currently attending a course in English, and paired up with their American job counterparts in various squadrons during their visit.

Left: Capt. Andrew Wiles, 80th Fighter Squadron F-16 pilot, shows ROKAF Capt. Ahn, Yon-woon and Lt. Shim, Myong-sung, 17th ROKAF Fighter Squadron F-4 weapons system operators, the weapons systems of the F-16.

Below: 1st Lt. Erik Fiederer, 80th Fighter Squadron, talks with ROKAF Maj. Kwon, Sung-bum (right) and Capt. Lee inside a hardened aircraft shelter.

Below Left: Capt. Victor Rivera, 8th Medical Group nurse, shows ROKAF nurse Capt. Hyun-jung Oh around the base clinic.

Below Right: Capt. James Tamura, 8th Communications Squadron chief of plans and implementations, shows ROKAF Maj. Duk-won Hwang and Capt. Dong-joon Lee, communications officers, a diagram showing how Kunsan is connected to Osan and Pusan through phone and microwave links.

Photos by 1st Lt. Ben Frankenfield

Republic of Korea AF officers shadow our finest personnel

